*** HIS Book, before the Au* * * thor ventured to make it
* T * public, was presented to the * * * Court of Common Sense,
and read by their Secretary.

That august and venerable Body seemed at first surpris'd at the Name of Gaming (which Common Sense ever abhorred);
but when they found it was a Scheme to answer several salutary Purposes in Life, and not designed to promote Thieving and cutting of Throats, as Gaming hitherto had done, they received the Author into their Favour, and gave him the following Approbation of his Work, as a Testimony of their Respect and Esteem.

COURT

COURT of COMMON SENSE.

Feb. 16, 1756.

WHEREAS Gaming has been represented to us as one of the greatest Evils that ever crept into Society, and stands indicted in this Court for being the principal Source and Cause of Lying, Cursing, Swearing, Sabbath-breaking, Stealing, picking of Pockets, and cutting of Throats, to the Ruin of Families in Multitudes too great to be mentioned; we have for many Years past made it a standing Rule and Order, that no Man should be suspected of having the least Share of common Sense or common Honesty that followed any such Practice. But a Scheme and Petition having been presented to us in Favour of a certain Game, by which the Old and the Young, the Rich and the Poor, the Gentle and the Simple, may learn to read or otherwise divert themselves, selves, so as to make Time sit easy upon their Hands; we have taken the same into our Consideration, and do hereby revoke our former Order, so far as that this said Scheme of a Game for the Benefit of Mankind may be carried into Execution. And we do order and strictly command the Blacks at White's, and all Gamesters and Gamblers whatever, to play at this Game and no other, and that the Stakes they play for be either Apples, Oranges, Almonds, Raisins, or Gingerbread Nuts.

By Order of the Court,

PETER PRUDENCE, Secretary.

Some DIRECTIONS for the Use of this BOOK.

IT would be much easier to teach Children to read, were it possible to fix their Attention on the Letters, 'till they were become familiar; but the Infant Mind, ever charmed with new Objects, jects, roves so precipitately from one Thing to another, that no adequate Idea can be formed, for the Impression fleets with the Object, and the Remembrance of it is no more.

To prevent in some Measure that Precipitancy, and to fix the Minds of Children 'till they have acquired a proper Knowledge of the Letters and Figures, is the Business of this little Book; which Parents and Nurfes are desired to make the following Use of.

As soon as the Child can speak, let him stick a Pin through the Side of the Leaf where the Pictures are, at the Letter on the other Side, which you would teach him; and thus let him do till he has by many Trials run the Pin through the Letter, turning the Leaf every Time he sticks the Pin through, by which means the Mind of the Child will be fixed so long upon the Letter, that he will have a perfect Idea of it, and

and not be liable to mistake it for any other.

When this is done, you may shew him the Picture opposite the Letter, and make him read the Name of it; which you will find divided, if it be a Word of two or more Syllables.

When he has learnt the Roman Letters, you may teach him the Italic Letters in the same Manner, and then the Figures: Afterwards it will be proper to give him a Sett of the SQUARES, fold at the Bible and Sun in St. Paul's Church-Yard, by playing with which he will soon learn to read, if the Directions laid down in the little Book given with them are pursued.
